Client: A multinational energy firm.

Challenge: Turnover in the Senior Executive Team without accompanying training and exercise of corporate plans and contingencies.

Actionable Knowledge® solutions: Flynt Group designed and conducted a multiple scenario management exercise that trained the executives in their crisis roles and responsibilities, and tested existing enterprise plans, including crisis management, strategic communications, and business continuity.

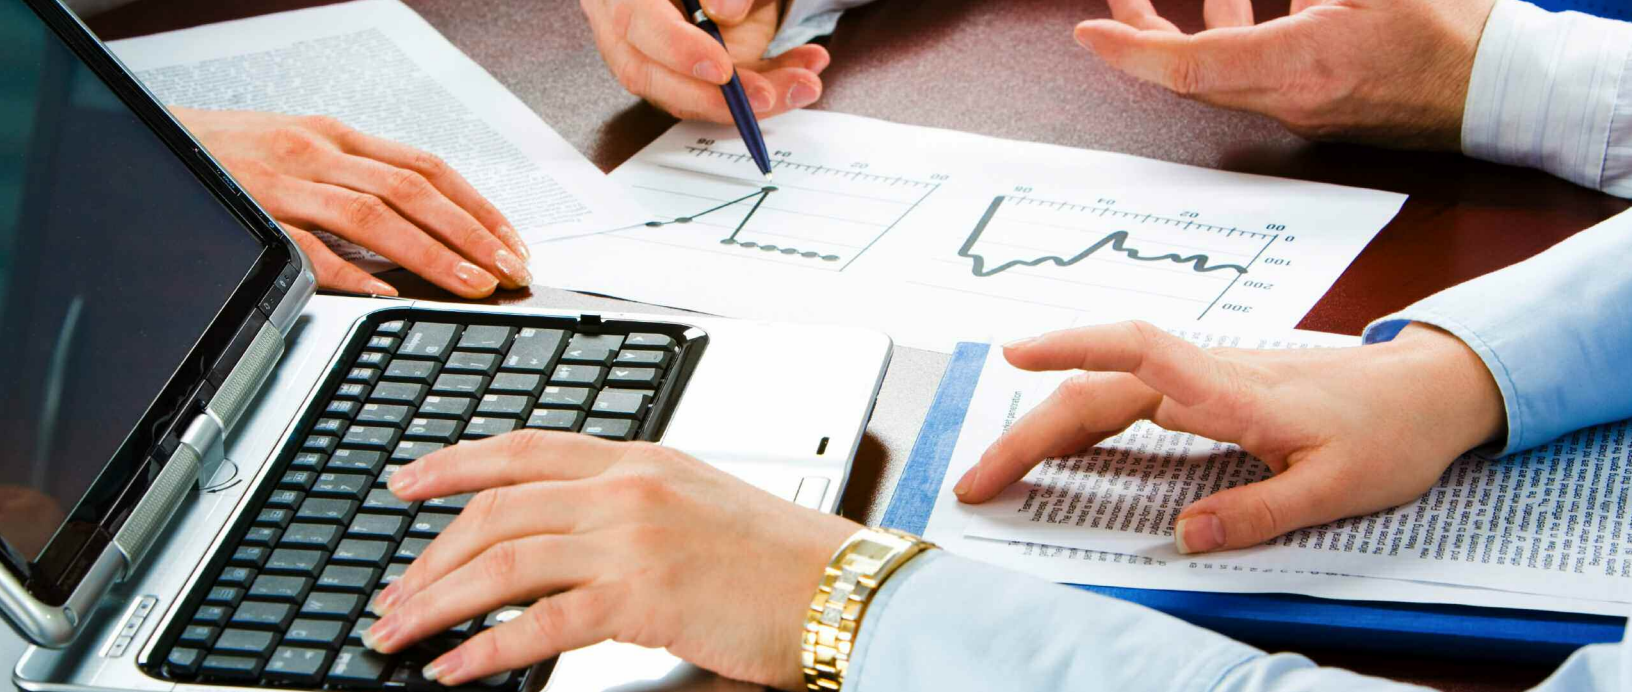

"Flynt Group was invaluable in helping us craft a strategic plan for a major, regional Homeland Security partnership of senior public – private sector stakeholders. Their expertise in strategic planning and Homeland Security ensured that not only was our plan focused and quantifiable, but also fully met the needs of all organizations involved."

- Regional Director, Business Executives for National Security

"We engaged Flynt Group to assist us with several strategic technology initiatives. We have been impressed with their work. The work delivered was of high quality, they worked flexibly and effectively with us, and they inspired confidence. The products were delivered on time and exceeded expectations in every case."

-Director of Cyber Security, a National Laboratory
