Flynt Group CEO Presents at Critical Infrastructure Conference

Kansas City, MO – February 3, 2015 – The Flynt Group, Inc. announced today that its CEO, Dr. Bill Flynt, presented at the DistribuTech 25th Annual Conference in San Diego, California. His presentation was titled Welcome to the Code War: Lessons from DOE's Smart Grid Program and addressed cyber-physical systems protection and security of the evolving intelligent grid as a corporate and national security concern. DistribuTech is an internationally attended gathering of electric power critical infrastructure corporations and regulatory entities.

Dr. Flynt stated “We are very pleased to have been invited by the industry to address their stakeholders in one of their largest annual meetings. Our topic is particularly relevant in light of the relentless cyber-physical system attacks being conducted by various groups, and we’ve received a lot of positive feedback and interest from major utilities and vendors regarding our risk management approaches in this space.”
