Major U.S. City Awards Flynt Group Critical Infrastructure Protection Consulting Contract

Kansas City, MO – March 23, 2004 – The Flynt Group, Inc., announced today that a major city in the western United States has awarded it a consulting contract to review several critical infrastructure Threat and Vulnerability Assessments of key facilities and assets, and provide related anti-terrorism services in support of a Department of Homeland Security initiative.

Flynt Group was selected for its anti-terrorism and strategic risk management expertise concerning threats to critical infrastructures.

Commenting on the contract award, Flynt Group's President, Dr. Bill Flynt, stated "The city is squarely in the heart of a strategic region for the United States in terms of commerce, transportation, finance, international trade, and the entire U.S. economy. We are proud that the city has entrusted Flynt Group with this important project, and we look forward to continuing our support of their Homeland Security efforts."
